ABOUT CARLII ———

For the past 15 years, Carlii Lyon has been shaping the reputation of remarkable individuals from across the globe. As a former international personal publicist, her past clients include a world-leading supermodel (Miranda Kerr), New York Times bestselling authors, inventors, musicians, and even a British celebrity foot reader!

Today, Carlii is dedicated to helping everyday individuals, executives and entrepreneurs discover the power of reputation by proactively shaping their professional identities, communicating their value, and becoming visible to the audiences that matter. Recognised as a thought leader on the topic, Carlii has been invited to speak to the teams of Top 50 ASX Listed companies and iconic brands internationally; including the likes of Financial Times, Spotify, GPT Group, Gilbert + Tobin and L'Oréal to name a few. She is a regular contributor to Forbes Australia on the topic of personal branding and has been featured in Smart Company, CEO Magazine, Sky News and The Sunday Telegraph.

“Carlii truly nailed the brief and had everybody hanging on every word...”

“The combination of her delivery style and the content presented was digestible, informative yet inspirational. Carlii’s approach in asking the good questions beforehand made her resonate with the audience and for the audience to leave with actionable changes. I could not recommend Carlii more - plus, she is a total pleasure to work with.”

EMPOWERING LEADERS AND TEAMS TO CREATE A REPUTATION OF SUCCESS

"I help leaders and team members harness the power of identity, reputation, visibility, and connection so they are seen, heard and remembered for all the right reasons.

Through engaging masterclasses and dynamic workshops, my mission is to empower every participant to show up, confidently shape their personal brand and connect with the people and audiences that matter.

To date, I've had the privilege of speaking to some of the world's most loved and trusted brands. My insights have helped them cultivate a powerful presence and make a lasting impact."

"I highly recommend Carlii as a PR personal branding expert. She has deep knowledge of the craft and art of personal branding, developed over many years of advising some of the world's most eminent individuals on their PR and brands. Her immense expertise was developed not in academia but in the trenches, solving real-world challenges for real-world companies, stars and executives. Carlii blends this high-level proficiency with a wonderful heart- all her clients know that she deeply cares. In summary: Carlii Lyon has expertise, experience, and soul. A rare combination."
